

PUZZLE MADNESS

Daily Medium Futoshiki Puzzle for Friday 29th April 2011

<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>
<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>
<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>
<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>
<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>

Diagram illustrating a Futoshiki puzzle grid with 5 rows and 5 columns. The grid contains various comparison symbols (>, <) and numbers (5, 3) indicating constraints between adjacent cells.

Row 1: Empty cells.

Row 2: Empty cells.

Row 3: Empty cells.

Row 4: Empty cells.

Row 5: Empty cells.

Comparison symbols and numbers are placed between cells as follows:

- Row 2, Column 3: Down arrow (∨) below the cell.
- Row 3, Column 4: Down arrow (∨) below the cell.
- Row 4, Column 2: Greater than symbol (>) between Column 1 and Column 2.
- Row 4, Column 3: Greater than symbol (>) between Column 2 and Column 3.
- Row 4, Column 5: Number 5 inside the cell.
- Row 5, Column 5: Number 3 inside the cell.