

A 10x10 grid with 30 black circles scattered across it. The circles are distributed in a way that suggests a random process, with some clusters and some empty spaces. For example, there are two circles in the top-left corner, one in the top-middle, and one in the top-right. There are also circles in the middle and bottom sections, with some appearing in pairs or small groups. The overall pattern is sparse and irregular.