

A 10x10 grid with 30 black circles scattered across it. The circles are distributed in a way that suggests a random or pseudo-random process. Some circles are isolated, while others are in small groups. The grid lines are thin and gray, and the circles are simple black outlines with no fill. The overall pattern is sparse and irregular.