

A 10x10 grid with 30 black circles scattered across it. The circles are distributed in a way that suggests a random process, with some clusters and some empty space. The grid lines are thin and gray, and the circles are simple black outlines. The overall layout is square, with the grid filling most of the frame.